This 4-hour workshop will focus on the first six lessons as taught by Hopkins. We will expand on the principles of personal health and well-being to identify how we can apply those same principles “to the beautiful power of your mind as to your own experience and judgement” (p.1). The workshop is designed to encourage self-reflection and identification of goals “to experience ‘the cool thrill of fire’ that lets one know that the hidden power, latent in all of us, is working to show us the Good” (p.ix).
